KEETMANSHOOP

THINGS TO DO AND PLACES TO VISIT IN AND AROUND KEETMANSHOOP

Quiver Tree forest and Giants Playground

16 km north of Keetmanshoop on the C17 road

It looks as though giants played with gigantic rocks in this interesting and strange forest. Some of the quiver trees are over 600 years old.

Brukkaros mountain

135 km north of Keetmanshoop

Hiking up this mountain will take you about 7 hours if you are reasonably fit. You will be rewarded with a beautiful view of the valley and of crystals on the way up.

Naute Dam

in the Naute National Park

53 km south of Keetmanshoop

This dam was built between 1970 and 1972. The dam's source is the Lowen River, a tributary of the Fish River. This is one of few dams in Namibia that are often filled to capacity and it is Namibia's second largest dam. Palms and grapes are cultivated in the area.

Gibeon War Graves

north of Keetmanshoop

The British Station Cemetery contains a plot with the graves of 33 Commonwealth soldiers (South African) who fell in the Battle of Gibeon, 27 April 1915.

restaurants in Keetmanshoop

There are plenty of restaurants, especially some of the known South African chains like the Wimpy and Mohegan Spur. You can get some slightly more local food at the Food Hut or Hungry Lion.

LUDERITZ

THINGS TO DO AND PLACES TO VISIT IN AND AROUND LUDERITZ

Ritzi's Seafood Restaurant

Kolmanskop

ghost town in the Namib desert

10 km from Luderitz

It was named after a transport driver Johnny Coleman who, during a sand storm, abandoned his ox wagon on a small incline opposite the settlement. The town started to decline after World War I when the diamond-field slowly started to deplete. By the early '30s, the area was in decline. Hastening the town's demise was the discovery in 1928 of the richest diamond-bearing deposits ever known. These were on the beach terraces 270km south of Kolmanskop, near the Orange River. Many of the town's inhabitants joined the rush to the south, leaving their homes behind. The new diamond find merely required scouting the beaches. Kolmanskop was ultimately abandoned in 1954.

Goerke Haus

in Luderitz

The discovery of diamonds in 1908 by August Stauch started a diamond rush, drawing prospectors from all over the world. A number of luxurious villas sprung up, which became known as diamond palaces. One of these was the Goerke House (designed by architect Otto Ertl), the villa of the mine inspector for a German diamond-mining company.
